

Liability, Responsibilities, Rights, and Duties of Accredited Journalists

1. The Press Pass is not transferable. It remains the property of the race organiser or promoter, and any violation of safety and organisational rules, such as failure to follow instructions given by the organisation staff will lead to immediate withdrawal of the Pass and removal of the person from the event. The Press Pass must include the passholder's name. The vehicle registration plate number must be clearly indicated on the Entrance Pass. Without this data the Entrance Pass will be immediately withdrawn.
2. The accredited person may use the materials obtained within the scope of the accreditation only for editorial purposes. It is forbidden to use these materials for commercial purposes. If such a case is determined, the person may be punished by refusal to grant accreditation for ASN events for at least one year.
3. Accredited journalists must strictly observe all motorsport safety rules and follow all instructions given by race organisers and marshals. Their actions must not jeopardise the progress of the event, or their own or anyone else's safety.
4. The accredited person and every Entrance Pass holder acknowledge the awareness that motorsports are dangerous and that they are attending the event at their own risk. The accredited person pledges that neither now nor in the future will they demand compensation, hold liable, accuse, or sue ASN, the organisers, promoters, national sports associations or clubs involved in the event, nor any participating team or driver, the owner of the circuit, or other organisations participating in the event, including directors, individual members, marshals, employees, agents, service employees, representatives, and contractors in the event of personal injury, death, or loss of any kind on the part of the passholder in connection with their presence at the event.
5. The accredited person undertakes not to cause harm to ASN or the organiser and will not claim from them or their agents compensation for any damage caused by a third party (personal injury, death, damage or loss of any kind) incurred during the given event.
6. Journalists / photographers have the right to all available information connected with the running and progress of the race (race results, press information, etc.) that are available in the press centre throughout the course of the race.
7. If during the accreditation process the applicant ceases to work for the publisher or broadcaster, the applicant is required to inform the organiser of this fact. They will then automatically be required to reapply for accreditation. Otherwise the accreditation cannot be granted to the applicant.
8. The applicant for accreditation is required to abide by all hygienic and cultural rules associated with their work and the place where they will carry it out. They shall undertake not to restrict their colleagues, other journalists, or other people employed at the given event with their behaviour or actions.
